The 2026 Flagship Mathematics Education Conference

BCME 10, The British Congress of mathematics education, returns 23-24 October 2026 in Nottingham, bringing together mathematics educators, researchers, policy makers and thought leaders from across the UK and beyond. BCME is the premier national gathering for everyone committed to advancing mathematics education - from primary practitioners to university researchers.

With the 2026 theme “Research and Practise in Partnership,” BCME 10 invites organisations to be part of a vibrant, solution-focused conversation, shaping the future of maths teaching and learning. As a sponsor your organisation will be positioned at the heart of this influential community gaining direct visibility and engagement with professionals who drive decisions shape policy and deliver real classroom impact.

Why exhibit at BCME 10?

- Reach a highly engaged, specialised audience of educators, academics, leaders and sector partners.
- Showcase your brand as a supporter of evidence informed innovative mathematics education.
- Connect directly with decision-makers seeking your resources, tools and partnerships.
- Demonstrate thought leadership aligned with the Joint Mathematical Council and leading participating societies.
- Support national progress in mathematics education at one of the most respected conferences of its kind.

Whether your goal is brand visibility, meaningful connections, or contributing to the future of maths education, BCME 10 offers a powerful platform to make a lasting impact.
